

Pennsylvania Workers' Compensation: Payment Schedule for Specific Loss Benefits

This infographic illustrates the number of weekly checks an injured worker is entitled to when they suffer a specific loss of a body part in a Pennsylvania Workers' Compensation matter. It is important to note that there are also "healing periods" that the injured worker would also be entitled to receive and these vary by body part. The test for specific loss is amputation or the loss of use for "all intents and purposes" of that body part.
